Do States Have a Role in Protecting Data Privacy?

2:00 PM-3:00 PM

Room 301AB

In the absence of comprehensive federal action, states have increasingly taken the lead on establishing new data privacy laws to protect consumers. States are improving guardrails on data transparency, data rights and limitations on the use of collected consumer data. Join the panelists as they consider the extent state government plays a role in protecting data privacy, including what states can learn from each other, state-to-state and state-federal collaboration, and an examination of the policy options available to state leaders.

Cliff Hayes
Delegate
Virginia House of Delegates

Evidence-Based Options to Address America's Mental Health Crisis

2:00 PM-3:00 PM

Room 302A

Headlines abound: America faces a mental health crisis, but where do you start? This panel will provide a data-driven presentation on America's mental health needs and discuss practical options states can consider in response.

State Strategies to Respond to the Substance Use Crisis

3:00 PM-4:00 PM

Room 305AB

Worsened by the COVID-19 pandemic, the nation experienced its highest number of overdose deaths in a 12-month period between September 2020 and September 2021, a staggering 50% increase over the previous two years. This panel of state officials will highlight the strategies they use to address the substance use crisis, like prevention coalitions, referral programs, peer counseling, and opioid use disorder centers.

First Chance Delaware – The Power of Partnership

8:15 AM-9:15 AM

Room 302BC

Building on the discussion of Dolly Parton's Imagination Library, Delaware First Lady Tracey Quillen Carney will talk about the First Chance Delaware initiative and its engagement of state and national partners. Quillen Carney will be joined by Christopher Church from Casey Family Programs and Jennifer Ryan from Pathways to Resilience. The session will address, with illustration by example, how state teams, first spouses and national partners can work together to build momentum in priority areas.

Innovation Classroom: The Function of State Procurement

8:15 AM-9:15 AM

Room 302A

Presented by the National Association of State Procurement Officers

Do you have questions about the role procurement plays in state government? During this session, panelists from the National Association of State Procurement Officers (NASPO) will review the procurement process and trends, the advantages of cooperative procurement, available resources and more. Attendees will also learn how they can support a fair, efficient, successful and transparent procurement function within their state.

The 2023 CSG National Conference includes nine Innovation Classrooms. These sessions provide engaging and interactive professional development and policy learning experiences for conference attendees. Utilizing the expertise of select CSG Associate members to demonstrate the use of cutting-edge innovations and technologies, state leaders can better understand the applicability of these technologies and innovations to policy issues at play in their jurisdictions. CSG does not endorse the content of this presentation.

The Impact of Extreme Weather on the Property Insurance Market

10:45 AM-11:45 AM

Room 301AB

At least five large U.S. property insurers say extreme weather patterns have led them to raise rates, exclude protections from various events, and stop writing coverages in some regions. Those decisions have some state leaders concerned about potential impacts to state finances in the wake of natural disasters. This panel will include the perspectives of a state insurance commissioner, two state emergency management officials and a legal scholar. Together they will consider the future of disaster preparedness, resilience and recovery in an increasingly unpredictable environment.

Hello,

The 2023 CSG National Conference registration has closed. However, I am happy to assist with registering you. Can I confirm I am speaking with Senate Speaker Therese Terlaje? If so, I will submit your registration under the State Government category with a fee of $650. This is the standard rate that ended on Dec. 1 at 11:59pm ET. The fee can be paid by check or card at the registration desk at the conference or may be paid after the conference.

Please provide the following information for your registration, as well:

- Emergency contact name and phone number
- Would you like your invoice sent to you or another email address?

Thank you,

Julie
