2 GUÅHAN:

3           WHEREAS, building a sound foundation for our youth and providing 4 the education, skills, resources, and nurturing guidance they need to 5 succeed is one of the most important legacies we leave behind as parents, 6 leaders, and members of this community; and

7           WHEREAS, today's adolescents are faced with countless critical 8 challenges, even as our society's progress continues to provide never 9 before seen opportunities and resources to achieve lifelong goals; and

10           WHEREAS, through the monumental efforts and dedication of 11 women such as "Mama" Gayle R. Osborn and "Auntie" Bobbie S.N.
12 Benavente of the Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse; and 13 all of the hardworking men and women moving Guam's mental health 14 profession forward every day, our youth are fortunate to experience the 15 strength of these mentors and leaders, who volunteer their time and 16 resources, and dedicate their careers to providing our youth, especially 17 those who are at most risk of substance abuse or suicide, with a positive 18 and nurturing influence; and

19           WHEREAS, since 1988, the vision and foresight of these individuals 20 has since developed into a regionally-renowned organization of youth-21 driven and youth-led prevention programs that have been a positive outlet 22 for our families, villages, communities, schools, and our children; and

23           WHEREAS, the Youth for Youth Live! Guam Conference continues to

1 present a great alternative for our future leaders by providing activities
2 and events that promote the prevention of drug, alcohol, and tobacco
3 abuse, suicide, and violence, through establishing strong morals, values
4 and healthy lifestyles, while emphasizing the importance of building a 5 sound foundation focused on cultural acceptance, education, and reaching 6 attainable goals; and

7 WHEREAS, today marks the 20th Youth for Youth Live! Guam
8 Conference, where young people from throughout our region join together 9 to discuss the importance of substance abuse and suicide prevention, so 10 that they may positively influence their lives and the lives of other students 11 and youth around them; and

12 WHEREAS, this annual Conference, attended by hundreds of students 13 each year, continues to be a beacon of hope in our community, as adults
14 and adolescents alike work together to spread the message of saving lives, 15 building futures and raising awareness; now, therefore, be it
