Incumbent GHURA commissioners seek dismissal of whistleblower suit

Incumbent commissioners of the Guam Housing and Urban Renewal Authority have jointly filed a request for the U.S. District Court of Guam to dismiss a whistleblower lawsuit filed by GHURA Executive Director Ray Topasna involving alleged fraudulent activities Topasna raised during his previous role as GHURA's chief years ago — under a different administration.

whistleblower plaintiffs involved in what's called "qui tam" actions "are supposedly privy to the alleged fraud and therefore the whistleblowers should have adequate knowledge to plead matters with sufficient particularity," the commissioners contend. Their former co-defendants, David Sablan, Roland Selvidge and Cecile Suda, stood trial in October and were acquitted of the charges against them, which stemmed from an alleged illegal meeting in December 2011 and a poll vote conducted in April 2015.

Ray Topasna, a former and now current GHURA executive director, was not called to the witness stand, an action with which he took issue.

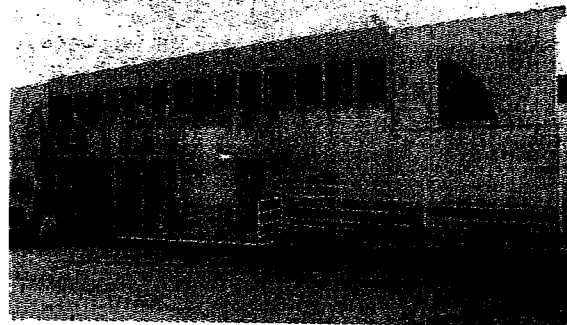

Torre, Ilao and Blas faced similar charges, which the Office of the Attorney General chose to dismiss following the trial. The government

Former GHURA Executive Director Michael Duenas was the seventh and only defendant to accept a guilty plea, admitting to conspiracy as a misdemeanor.

All of the former defendants faced misdemeanor charges only, but at nearly 50 misdemeanors when the case was first filed.

Former Chief Prosecutor Joseph McDonald called it a "milestone case" in early 2018 after Duenas pleaded guilty. McDonald is no longer with the AG's office.

"Hopefully this is the first example that (shows) the Office of the Attorney General has decided it's important to have transparency in the running of the boards. And so,

PAROLE BOARD CONFIRMATION TESTIMONY

December 5, 2019

I would like to begin by thanking the Governor and Lt Governor for nominating me to the Parole Board. I am truly honored and humbled by their trust and confidence in my ability to be a part of the Parole Board.

Thirty-three years ago, I began my career as a law enforcement officer as a parole officer. Through these many years, I was able to experience and understand the overwhelming challenges of the criminal justice system. For over twenty years, I served in the Department of Corrections as a parole officer, and in the capacity of Deputy Director and Director of Corrections. I clearly understand the extreme operational challenges of the Department of Corrections and my essential role as a Parole Board member. As a parole officer, I made hundreds of pre-parole studies on inmate backgrounds and interviewed numerous victims and family members. I saw firsthand the unseen tragedy of life choices of inmates. I heard the pain of victims and their families as they relived those horrific accounts. I also heard from the families of inmates who also greatly suffer because of those wrong choices. It is a tragedy untold and unseen by many of the general public.

I've dedicated most of my adult life to law enforcement with Department of Corrections, Guam Customs and Quarantine, Guam Police Department and Airport Police. I've been the Chairman and Vice Chairman for the Peace Officer Standards and Training for many years. Many of my brothers were police officers and some retired after many years. My father served 35 years in Department of Public Safety and retired as a Major. As a Military Police Veteran, I handled enemy prisoners of war from several camps in Operation Desert Storm. This life of service to law enforcement is a calling, and so I once again in retirement, I offer my knowledge and experience as a Parole Board member to help out the community.

Many years ago, the average education of an inmate was about 9th grade. Many of these inmates come from broken homes. They have an extensive history of alcohol and drug abuse individually and in their family. Many suffer from severe mental illness and ongoing health problems. Many come from a history of family violence and lack any positive role modelling. I have been the chairman of the adjustment and classification committee. I handled hundreds of cases and had to determine the most suitable placement for housing and treatment. I was chairman of the inmate Disciplinary Hearing Board for those inmates who had behavioral problems. I hope to work with Director Ishizaki and Deputy Carbuillido in ensuring that these issues are addressed appropriately prior to inmates coming before the Parole Board. We must ensure that we reduce any risk to the community.

I will consciously discharge my duties by first keeping in mind the public's safety. I will always keep within the parameters of the law and I will also ensure that my vote will be based on an inmate's ability to reintegrate back into the community by his history and incarceration record.

I realize that the role of the Parole Board member is a serious responsibility and I will not take this role lightly. I also understand that the public will trust that I keep their safety first and foremost. This is a correctional institution. I believe in the principles of community reintegration, reformation, restorative justice and treatment and rehabilitation. I believe in community-based corrections. I believe in redemption and recovery. I will make the best judgement possible to ensure that there is little to no risk to the community based on the history, institutional progress, parole plans and parole supervision. I see Parole as a tool to ensure that the public is safe. It is a privilege to be granted only when deserved by positive behavior and ability to conform to the laws of Guam.

I certainly hope that in the upcoming budget hearings that the legislature keep in mind that the Parole Division needs officers too. They play an integral part in community safety and lowering the recidivism rate at Department of Corrections. Parole Officers must be continually monitoring the progress and movement of parolees. It must be a supportive role and not just a supervisory role to ensure the success of the parolees. Parolees need to be involved in community service. They must pay back what they have taken from the victims and their families in whatever matter that is deemed necessary and appropriate.

I thank you for allowing me to provide testimony on my application to be part of the Guam Parole Board. I hope that you will view my testimony and experience as suitable to serve on this board.

SI YUUS MAASE.

II. SUMMARY OF TESTIMONY & DISCUSSION

The public hearing was Called-to-Order at 9:23AM.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

We'd like to begin as soon as everyone can take their seats. All right. So, this morning we are convened for a confirmation hearing on the Executive Appointment of Robert Camacho as a Member of the Guam Parole Board, on the Appointment of Dr. Paul Pomes to the Guam Board of Allied Health Examiners, Ms. Nicole Calvo as a Member of the Guam Historic Preservation Review Board and Dr. David Atienza as a Member of the Guam Historic Preservation Review Board.

Again, I'd like to thank my colleague, Senator Mary Camacho Torres, for being present at this hearing. I'd like to thank all of you who are here to give testimony or are just hear or witness this public hearing. We're going to begin with the Appointment of Mr. Robert Camacho to the Guam Parole Board.

So, according to 9 GCA §85.26 the general powers of the Parole Board include release on parole any person confined in any penal or corrections institution of Guam, revoking parole from any parolee and that the board shall adopt rules and regs that are consistent with the law to carry out its duties.

They should conduct all their meetings in accordance with the Open Government Law. They should incorporate in their rules the rights and restrictions of an inmate during parole application or revocation hearing, the presence of legal counsel or a lay representative on behalf of an inmate during a hearing, the rights of an inmate to receive in writing a specific reason or reasons for denial of parole to include deficiencies to be addressed in preparation of a future parole applications, rules for recusal of members due to conflict and any other rules that the board might need.

Nothing shall prevent the board from interviewing victims in private. Victims are supposed to be notified of parole hearings and I've received a couple complaints that that's not the case but I think that there are efforts to improve that system and make sure from all involved that they are.

Senator
THERESE M. TERLAJE

I Mina'trentai Singko na Libeslaturan Guåban

35th Guam Legislature

Committee on Health, Tourism, Historic Preservation, Land and Justice

And I think we've been in conversation with the Attorney General's Office as well as to victims' advocates are not right now required to be present but we would like to try to make that available to victims as well.

According to the law – the rules and regulations may allow the board to conduct deliberations in closed meetings and may vote by secret ballot on matters relative to the release on revocation of or discharge from parole notwithstanding the Open Government Law.

Al right. And as you know that we've discussed recently with roundtables and some bills. Some of the releases on parole that the community has been concerned with. And we've tried to assist the parole board by putting resources. Making resources available to it including the pre-sentence reports that are available to judges before they sentence persons so that they can have a more, full assessment of the person before them.

All right. And so now, we're going to proceed with testimony by those in here for Mr. Camacho. So, Mr. Ishizaki, Chief, if you would like to proceed and then we'll have Mr. Camacho. Is there anyone else who would like to testify on behalf of Mr. Camacho, please have a seat.

Frank Ishizaki:

Thank you, Madame Chair, senators. I'm here to support the confirmation of Robert Camacho. He's a good man, I've known him for seventeen years. We met at the Department of Corrections, seventeen years ago or just before that and I've known him since then.

He's a very competent professional and if anybody should be a director of corrections should be Robert Camacho but he said so when I got appointed. The last time I knew he was trying to get the job and I told the Governor he should give it to that young man because he's grown up in Corrections and he knows the parole.

I don't know anything about Corrections nor parole and he said yeah, well we want you to do it. So I said okay. So, anyway after I got the formal nomination, I approached Mr. Camacho and I asked him please help me because I really don't know anything about Corrections.

In exchange, I will help you get ready so he can take this job. Yeah, and I'm thankful the Governor Camacho listened and halfway through the first year he decided to do the switch.

So, I wasn't smiling, I was just thankful and the Governor asked me who I would recommend and I said this man.

And he's never failed anybody. He's honest, competent, professional. He's got all the earmarks of doing everything and he's done Customs. He's done Airport Police. He's been Deputy Chief of the Guam Police Department and then eventually after I got kicked out of prison, he became the Director of Corrections.

And I've always been impressed by him. He provided me staff work when I was Director and then when the Direct Deputy Director position was vacated, I appointed him immediately. And I'm thankful that Robert is here to serve our community and parole board. He was a Parole Officer; he knows everything about parole.

So, it'll be a drastic mistake to even consider denying him this confirmation. So, I'm here to endorse him. Thank you very much. Oh, Frank Ishizaki from Yo'ña.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

Si Yu'os ma'åse' Chief Ishizaki. Ms. Tayama?

Theresa Tayama:

My name is Theresa Tayama and I am here also likewise to join Director Ishizaki in recommending and requesting your approval of Mr. Robert Camacho as parole board member. I know him on a different level, he is my uncle. I grew up with him and he is one of twelve siblings, he's the youngest and he is my uncle.

I've always looked up to him and credits so much of where I am today because of him. I do know from the other level aside from all his professional accolades on the other side behind the walls of the house is that he really is very respectful.

Always commanded that respect and honor and would expect that and likewise is very committed and dedicated to whatever he could do. And he will kill me because when he was going through the University of Guam ROTC Program and they were going though that leadership.

I can remember how many times he was so obsessed with making sure that his boots and shoes are shiny to a t and I believe when they graduated in his class and they all received their commissioning, they received top honors nationwide.

So, that is a testament to just how in the small things can lead to bigger things and he's at the pinnacle of where he is. All I can say is that we would be remiss if we did not have him as a newest member of the parole board.

And I humbly request said you do grant him that. Thank you.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

Thank you, Ms. Tayama. Ms. Ortiz?

Linda Ortiz:

Yes, good morning, Chairman Terlaje and members.

I am Linda Ortiz; I am employed with the Department of Corrections for over thirty-six years. I come to submit my personal testimony in favor of Mr. Robert Camacho's appointment as a member of the parole board.

Now, Mr. Ishizaki, practically took all my words in his status as a Parole Officer. I first, my first contact with Bob was back in 1985 when he came on board as a Parole Officer I. I watched him move from Parole Officer I, II, and II.

Case Work Division works very close to the Parole Division. So, I watched him grow there. He takes his caseload very seriously. He's committed to the family, even to the victims. He's been fair to both sides – victims and the clients that he represents.

Now, as I remember Bob, there's many contributions that Bob has presented or given corrections but the one contribution that I do remember most well how do I say most vivid I guess is bringing his contribution of bringing the department to automation.

That came also with his family members assisting the department with the automation and what's this I guess to keep it short because I could go on and on as he elevated himself from Parole Officer I and like Mr. Ishizaki said up to Acting Deputy Director to the Department of Corrections Director.

He has never compromised his position in any way from Parole Officer I up to us being the Director of Corrections. Bob, to me if I could say, it this is what I remember about most importantly focus more is that if things can be done, it will be done.

And my gosh for him to be a parole board member, he can make the changes. He can address things that he is known as a Parole Officer all the way up to even casework as the Department of Corrections Director.

So, he would definitely be an asset to the board and I support highly and sincerely his recommendation for it. Thank you.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

Thank you, Ms. Ortiz. Thirty-six years, that's very impressive. Thank you. So, your testimony is taken very well.

I would also like to recognize the presence of Senator Sabina Perez and now if we could hear from the nominee, Mr. Camacho.

Robert Camacho:

Good morning, senators.

I would like to begin by thanking Frank and Linda and Theresa here for such kind words and I deeply appreciate it and wow that's wonderful. Thank you very much. I'm lost for words right there.

Please see attached testimony.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

Si Yu'os ma'åse' Chief Camacho. Are there any questions from Senator Mary Torres?

Chief, are you aware of challenges with parole board right now in terms of their ability to meet at a regular venue- regular and suitable venue, for parole hearings and are you aware of any challenges with meeting quorum to conduct that?

Robert Camacho:

I do know that they meet down at Parks and Recs conference room area. I don't know. I'm not sure that is a challenge but I've seen the area. I've seen the conference room and it seems quite suitable. I'm not sure if the Director and the Chairman of the Parole Board, that they want another location that I'm not aware of. As far as the quorum is concerned, I am not aware of any problems at this point.

Senator Mary Camacho Torres:

Okay because I know at one point there was discussion in the media about the conditions that the parole board was supposed to function under and how they didn't have permanent area to meet and that they would be staggered and going all over.

Which really, it left a lot of people thinking that it wasn't an ideal environment for hearings. Either for the people that come to testify or for the board members themselves. So, it sounds that there is more permanent type of arrangement right now which I'm glad to hear.

Robert Camacho:

Well there's two parts to my feeling behind where the location of the parole board. One, we have to consider the victims and the families and you know bringing them into the institution. I feel it's very difficult you know, security wise, not only that but also just the fact of going into an institution where there's fences and you know inmates all around.

I want to make it as easy as possible for the victims and their families to come to the parole board hearings without any kind of reservation because of hesitancy regarding a risk or you being seen by other inmates and so forth.

So, I think wherever we chose, I think we should always consider that as you know a primary factor.

Senator Mary Camacho Torres:

I also think that having worked with you when I was the Executive Manager at the Guam Airport and you were my Chief of Airport Police. I think we had, I clearly can testify to you now not only your competency but your great compassion and empathy to do the right things for people.

Unfortunately, in your role, there's never enough that you can do for victims' families and I don't think anyone will ever say that enough can be done to repay the harm that was done but I believe that you have the frame of mind and the experience to navigate those very delicate waters.

And for that I would highly endorse your nomination because I think that you have that character in addition to your professionalism. You have that soul that I think is a critical component of a parole board, when you're weighing the rights of a victim versus the rights of a parole to restore their lives at some point.

Robert Camacho:

Thank you, ma'am.

Senator Mary Camacho Torres:

Thank you and I just I didn't have any questions. I was just more concerned with what you can lend to the parole hearings and facilitating that in the most reasonable manner.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

Thank you. Senator Perez?

Senator Sabina Perez:

Yes, thank you, Madame Chair. Thank you, Mr. Camacho. And looking over your resume that definitely shows there's a high caliber. You have so much experience. A long history in and as Ms. Ortiz said that you grew up in the system.

And you know how it works and you've had a lot of experience. So, I do appreciate your acceptance of this nomination.

Robert Camacho:

Thank you very much ma'am.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

Thank you. I'd like to recognize a presence that we also have at least two parole board members here present, three. Thank you for being here today and for your continued work and so Chief Camacho, they're here to witness all the promises that you have made this morning.

Robert Camacho:

Yes.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

I appreciate those. I think you hit on all the topics I am concerned about. Of course parole- it's a balance of protection of the rights of the individuals and through the criminal justice system and protection of our community.

And I am glad that you have stated for the record that safety of the public is your primary concern and that you will release on parole when you find little to no risk to the community from that release.

And I agree with support of the prisoners and I was going to discuss with you that. So, we have in the court system, the re-entry program. The Adult Re-entry Program is very limited to only those who are not high-risk offenders but the court provides a support system.

It helps this program. Helps them with getting employment, ensuring that there's family support; that type of thing and whatever else their challenges might be; drug treatment. So I think ideally, we want this for all persons who are looking to be released from the Department of Corrections and all who are going to be out on parole.

The parole board can also be a support system and certainly if we are going to see success reintegration. All right.

Robert Camacho:

That is true ma'am. And I believe that you know the parole board has a lot of leeway to determine what type of programs a parolee might go through. Community service treatment programs on alcohol anonymous and all these other support from our mental health or public health.

There are areas that they can help and the other parts I believe that you know. There are a lot of religious organizations that are constantly helping inmates in the institution and I believe that we also can reach out to them and ask them for their support in helping guiding them throughout their transition into parole.

And that's what I feel is necessary- is the community involvement. And I believe that parolees, if they do not have work or have a job or business, that they have to be continually active in the community. Performing community service or doing something at the mayor's office or something that has to do with paying back some of the problems that they inflicted on the community.

So, I believe in everything that you know has to be an active role and I will do my best to ensure that we have will take those things into consideration.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

All right. And to assist you I know is the parole officers themselves and we have that Chief Quinata here. Thank you, Chief for being here and that they are going to play a very instrumental role.

If you are going to implement some that are already being implemented. I appreciate that. Do you think you have any conflict of interest? I understand you're retired now.

Robert Camacho:

That's right.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

Do you have any conflicts of interest in this work?

Robert Camacho:

I don't have any. I don't believe I have any.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

All right. No side business to profit from?

Robert Camacho:

No, not any.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

All right. What about your schedule?

Robert Camacho:

My schedule I do work at GCC too with the PEACE Officer standards and training as a Post Director but that's just twice a week; Wednesdays and Fridays for four hours.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

All right. We've recognized in past hearings that these parole board members spend hours in one hearing at least four hours, if I understand correctly. Sometimes an entire day, multiple times a month because they had a backlog and they were trying to catch up.

So, it's a huge investment of time and again I want to thank those who are doing that work the parole officers have to be, the families are there for long periods of time too. But I appreciate your sensitivity to the victims because this has been brought up in several hearings and directly to my office.

Victims want to feel safe. They're coming in to what to them might look like another court hearing and we all know how that went for them the first time. It's very challenging and some of them have expressed that in the past, there were a location issue. No permanent home for the parole board to have their meetings and so victims' families, witnesses for the potential parolee in the same room.

They don't like that, you know. But I'm sure that this has been brought up and that you can do your best to please take care of that. If I can help you, let me know.

My understanding is that they've now been very successful in securing better places to have these meetings.

Robert Camacho:

Yes, I can assure you ma'am that we will consider all those areas. I just to bring back I mean as I'm going through this think o think about some of the things were times where I had to go and interview a victim and they're shocked that I'm actually there.

Sometimes many of them are put it back in their memory and you know ten, fifteen years later we it's rehashing of that horrific time. I've even had an instance where we found I found a victim and she quit her job and was lost.

I could not find her again. That's the kind of traumatic effect you know that when the victim goes through you know being a victim of crimes that sometimes especially sexual assaults there's the trauma is lifetime.

And so, I will do my best whatever to ensure that we keep those the sensitivity have the sensitivity of victims and their families. Yeah, and but I assure you that we have like you said have a balance of everything depending on the crime – the treatment and rehabilitation, the history, the supervision and the overall plan.

Every parolee that goes out has to have a residence, an employment plan and a parole advisor. And you know just something that shows that he is going to be settled when he comes into the community abide by the law.

Thank you. And in particular with sex offenders as you brought up. We, the community, has been outraged recently on from release of persons on parole who then reoffended and it's very painful to the entire community to see this happen.

We want our criminal justice system to prevent that and so you know we're trying our best to find gaps close those. It's actually I think a large part of it is tools and as science progresses and everything progresses.

Our treatment abilities progress. We are looking to you who are on the parole board to really enforce that you know to ensure that they get what they need. That the risk is estimated appropriately.

Robert Camacho:

That's right.

Chairperson Therese M. Terlaje:

And it takes a lot of different specialties. I guess in the community to come to a perfect understanding on that but please we are asking you to all use your due diligence to prevent re-offense especially.

Okay. So, I want to thank you again for your agreement to accept this nomination and to serve on the parole board. There's no other comment then we will accept further testimony and until next Friday or as soon as possible.

If you could get that into our office or through email senatorterlajeguam@gmail.com

III. FINDINGS & RECOMMENDATIONS

- The nomination of Robert D. Camacho to serve as a Member of the Guam Parole Board was formally endorsed by the current Department of Corrections Director Frank Ishizaki based on seventeen years of working professionally with Mr. Camacho, at the Department of Corrections. Director Ishizaki emphasized Mr. Camacho's qualifications and professionalism by summarizing his work experience in the corrections field, Customs & Quarantine, the Guam Airport Police and in his role as Deputy Chief of the Guam Police Department and the Director of Corrections.
- Mr. Camacho's nomination was also formally endorsed by Ms. Linda Ortiz, a Corrections professional of thirty-five years. Ms. Ortiz testified to Mr. Camacho's commitment to fairness towards families, victims and clients that he served.
- Mr. Camacho stated for the record that he does not foresee any conflicts of interest or challenges to his attendance of hearings.
- In discussion with the legislative panel, Mr. Camacho expressed his desire to improve the experience of attending parole board hearings for victims and families, so that they may attend without hesitation or reservation regarding a risk or of being seen by other inmates.
- Mr. Camacho stated for the record that safety of the public is a primary concern and that he will release on parole when he finds little to no risk to the community from that release.
- The Committee finds that Mr. Robert D. Camacho possess the necessary knowledge, professional experience and dedication needed to serve as a member of the Guam Parole Board and contribute to Board improvements.

The Committee on Health, Tourism, Historic Preservation, Land and Justice hereby reports on the appointment of Robert D. Camacho to serve as a Member of the Guam Parole Board, with the recommendation TO PD CONFIRM.
