Appearing Before the Committee

Phillip J. Tydingco, Deputy Attorney General, The Office of the Attorney General

The public hearing was Called-to-Order at 5:01 PM.

II. TRANSCRIPTION OF TESTIMONY & DISCUSSION

Senator Frank B. Aguon Jr.

"We are going to proceed to the second legislative proposal that is on the agenda that is Bill No. 202-32 (COR) and we do have the sponsor of the legislation Senator Tony Ada, if you could provide your brief comments."

Senator Tony Ada:

"Thank you Mr. Chair. Mr. Chair, since the beginning of 2013, Guam has witness several high-profile criminal acts that would meet the definition of car-jacking as defined by Bill 202. Mr. Chair just let me go back, and what it is that uh, Bill 202-32 is an act to add a new article 3 to chapter 37 of 9 gca act relative to car-jacking. As you know, just a couple of weeks ago, there was a tourist who believed he was being a good Samaritan by offering a man a ride but little known to him he was uh, he was assaulted, robbed, and his rental car was taken, his money was taken to the case where a woman was sexually assaulted and robbed by a man who hid in her car while she was uh, at a local business. Crimes like this can no longer go on in our community. We must stand firm and say no to these facts, these acts of crimes. During the research for this legislation, we were looking for model legislation as we created this bill and we discovered that the laws in various states and cities differed from each other. And instead what we did was we patterned our car-jacking bill, the language of this bill, after the home invasion and burglary laws. And if there is any recommendations from our attorney general that would make this bill more effective, then I would like to work with the committee and those recommendations so that we can ensure this bill is effective and those recommendations become part of it. Thank you Mr. Chair.”

GUAM U.S. MILITARY RELOCATION
VETERANS' AFFAIRS | HOMELAND SECURITY | JUDICIARYI MINA'TRENTAI DOS NA LIHESLATURAN GUAHAN | 32ND GUAM LEGISLATURE*

Senator Frank B. Aguon Jr.

“Thank-you very much Senator Ada. Mr. Attorney General, If you could identify yourself for the record. If there is anyone in the audience who would like to provide testimony on Bill No. 202, please proceed to the table to your right and register, other than that, Mr. Attorney General you may precede.”

Attorney General Phil Tydingco

“Uh, Phil Tydingco, Chief Deputy AG on behalf of Attorney General Lenny Rapadas and the Offices of the Attorney General. Uh, Good Evening Chairman Aguon and Senators San Nicolas, Senator Tony Ada, and Senator Tony Morrison, uh, Tommy Morrison. We thank-you for this opportunity of course, we support any bill that can become laws that will address new crimes that can be committed, as you know car-jacking, I am kinda sad to see that bill because we sorta not had this phenomena until the last couple of years, or forms of it, so it looks like it has reached our shores and normally we associate car-jacking with the mainland and the big cities and so-forth, but sadly as recent as the one down south with the tourist so, umm, again it’s sad it has reached our shores but it looks like it’s needed, we I just quickly perused it tonight and I believed that it appears consistent with our burglary home invasion of course I’ll take it back to the prosecutors and ask them to also look at it, but it looks fairly tight the only concern that I will bring again which is related to another issue is that, for example, we like the graduated punishment meaning that if the car-jacking involves a deadly weapon or armed car-jacking, that the minimum mandatory go up and then this one actually carries a minimum mandatory of 10 years without a weapon and with a weapon a minimum mandatory of 15 but again I know that uh, Senator MaCreadie has a bill that will make clear that the minimum mandatory mean what they mean, but there is also another bill kinda creates attention which is the one that would allow courts to consider moving away from the minimum mandatory but if this is added to the violent crime list, the we will be okay with that Safety Valve Law so, that violent crimes when they have minimum mandatory they won’t be, the floor won’t be lowered by the court, the court will carry out the intent of the legislature which is to tell everybody in the territory this is a serious crime, we don’t like it, we want a minimum mandatory punishment which this law provides for. So again, we support the intent and concept of the bill and it looks pretty good from a quick review I did tonight, if you could email it to me and I can other folks look at it but otherwise it looks good to go. Thank-you.”

Senator Frank B. Aguon Jr.:

“Thank-you very much Mr. Tydingco and I appreciate you providing a brief testimony certainly the committee will be accepting testimonies subsequent to this day for another 10 days so, that opportunity will be there. Any senators have comments? If not, the public hearing on the 2 legislative measures have concluded. The committee will continue to receive testimony.”

Residents last night called on senators to establish a uniform policy on gambling, rather than legalizing only certain games.

FILED UNDER

News
NEWS01

They were speaking at a public hearing for Bill 192, which prohibits what Vice Speaker B.J. Cruz calls "casino cafes," which allow patrons to gamble and play sweepstakes online.

The bill would prohibit the type of gaming machines used to conduct sweepstakes on the Internet.

Cruz said there are establishments on island in which games of chance like blackjack, keno, digital horse racing and slot machines are played to acquire points that can be converted into sweepstakes entries, with the intent of winning money.

One local cafe, according to an investor report on its parent company's website, has the potential to provide an average monthly revenue of $80,000.

Several residents came out in support of the legislation last night, pointing out Guamanians' historic stance against gambling.

"Internet sweepstakes cafes are in the business of gambling," said Jackie Marati, a member of Keep Guam Good, an anti-gambling group on island.

Marati, who has been a prominent opponent of legalized gambling and casinos in Guam, noted the lack of regulations for gambling cafes, specifically any regulations that keep underage residents from gambling.

She called the enterprise an "easy business to start," that can "open quickly and inconspicuously."

Deputy Attorney General Philip Tydingco, representing the AG's office in the hearing, said his office supports the bill, calling it a "comprehensive" update to the island's gambling law.

Carjacking bill

The public hearing also addressed a carjacking bill, though only the attorney general's office provided any testimony for that bill.

Bill 202 by Sens. Tony Ada, R-Sinajana, and Chris Duenas, R-Sinajana, would make carjacking a first-degree felony punishable by a minimum of 10 years in prison.

A person is guilty of carjacking if he unlawfully enters an occupied vehicle or hides in a car, waiting for the driver's return, the bill states.

The senators introduced the legislation following what they called a rise in such incidents on island.

Eric Jay Meno, 36, Merizo, was arrested after being chased by Guam police through southern villages. Meno allegedly stole a rental car from a tourist in Agat on Oct. 1.

Meno was arrested on allegations that include robbery, theft and eluding police, according to police.

In January, a woman was beaten, handcuffed and held in her car for more than an hour before police tracked her and her alleged kidnapper down at Marbo Cave.

The victim was attacked in a Micronesia Mall parking garage, allegedly by a man later identified as Kyle Julian Indalecio Camacho, a convicted sex offender, according to documents filed in the Superior Court of Guam.

The bill calls for a longer prison sentence, a minimum of 15 years in jail, for carjackers who possess a deadly weapon while committing the crime.

The bill also makes attempted carjacking and fleeing following a carjacking attempt the same as the actual crime.

At the public hearing for the carjacking bill, Tydingco expressed his office's support for the bill.

"We usually associate carjacking with the mainland," he said last night. "It's sad that it's reached our shores."

Tydingco added that his office remains concerned about the mandatory sentences associated with the bill, but said that if that provision passes, "the court will carry out the intentions of the law."

Senators: Lock up carjackers for 10 years

Written by Jerick Sablan Pacific Sunday News

Ada

ON THE NET

- Sens. Tony Ada and Chris Duenas introduced Bill 202 with the goal of deterring would-be carjackers. The bill sets a minimum of 10 years in prison for someone who is convicted of carjacking. If the crime was committed with a weapon, such as a gun or knife, the minimum prison sentence is 15 years.

- To read the bill, go to GuamPDN.com.

Senators are hoping to pass legislation that would impose stiff prison time for carjacking.

Sens. Tony Ada, R-Sinajana, and Chris Duenas, R-Sinajana, have introduced Bill 202, which would make carjacking a first-degree felony with a minimum of 10 years in prison.

A person is guilty of carjacking if he unlawfully enters an occupied vehicle or hides in a car, waiting for the driver's return, the bill states.

Recent incident

The senators introduced the legislation following what they called a rise in such incidents on island.

Recently Eric Jay Meno, 36, Merizo, was arrested after being chased by Guam police through southern villages. Meno allegedly stole a rental car from a tourist in Agat on Tuesday.

Meno was arrested on allegations that include robbery, theft and eluding police, according to police.

In January, a woman was beaten, handcuffed and held in her car for more than an hour before police tracked her and her kidnapper down at Marbo Cave.

The victim allegedly was attacked in a Micronesia Mall parking garage by a man later identified as Kyle Julian Indalecio Camacho, a convicted sex offender, according to documents filed in the Superior Court of Guam.

15 years possible

The bill calls for a longer prison sentence, a minimum of 15 years in jail, for carjackers who possess a deadly weapon while committing the crime.

The bill also makes attempted carjacking and fleeing following a carjacking attempt the same as the actual crime.

The bill is patterned after Public Law 32-47, which created minimum sentencing guidelines for home invaders.

Extending protection

Duenas said the bill is an extension to protecting residents' personal property with the previous legislation focusing on the home.

"We want to ensure people are protected to the fullest extent of the law," he said.

The senators have been working on the legislation for several weeks and the most recent carjacking makes it clear the law needs to be changed, they said.

"When this bill becomes law, people will think twice about committing these crimes," Duenas said.

Both senators said the proposed legislation, if passed into law, would help reduce carjackings and would ensure that criminals who violate the law go to jail for a long time.

Senator Tony Ada Proposes Bill to Make Car Jacking a 1st Degree Felony

Guam News - Guam News

Guam - Senator Tony Ada has introduced a new measure that would make carjacking a First Degree Felony.

Bill #202 defines carjacking unlawfully entering an occupied vehicle, or surreptitiously lying in wait in the vehicle in anticipation of the driver's return.

READ Bill 202 HERE

If it becomes law, any one convicted of carjacking would have a minimum additional 10 years tacked onto their sentence that will run consecutively with any other sentence imposed for crimes committed.

New Bill Would Make Carjacking a First Degree Felony

Carjackers will be facing serious prison time once Bill No. 202-32 authored by Senator Tony Ada and cosponsored by Senator Chris Duenas becomes law.

The measure makes carjacking a first degree felony for those who break into occupied vehicles with the intent to commit a crime and adds a minimum sentence of 10 years that will run consecutively to the sentences imposed on the underlying crimes. A person is guilty of carjacking if he unlawfully enters an occupied vehicle or surreptitiously lies in wait in the vehicle in anticipation of the driver's return.

The bill also provides a more severe prison sentence for carjackers who possess a deadly weapon while committing the crime. The bill also makes attempted carjacking and fleeing following a carjacking attempt the same as the actual crime. This bill is patterned after P.L. 32-047 which created minimum sentencing guidelines for home invaders.

According to Carjacking.com, "Carjacking is the violent form of motor vehicle theft. It is a serious threat to our personal safety because the thief uses force and fear to rob our car from us. Sometimes the car owner or other occupants are kidnapped during a carjacking, and if lucky will be dropped off nearby unharmed. The worst case scenario occurs when you are transported to a secondary crime scene, which is usually more dangerous than the original confrontation. Those not so lucky victims have suffered other crimes like rape, aggravated assault, and even homicide."

In recent months, Guam has seen an increase in the rate of carjacking.

Both Senator Ada and Senator Duenas see Bill No. 202-32 as an added deterrent to carjacking and a means to ensure that criminals who violate the law go to jail for a long time.

Carjacking legislation discussed

THE recent spate of carjacking incidents propelled Sen. Tony Ada to introduce Bill 202, a measure that would make this particular offense a first-degree felony.

The bill, co-sponsored by Sen. Chris Duenas, applies to those who break into occupied vehicles with the intent to commit a crime. It adds a minimum sentence of 10 years which may not be reduced or suspended by the court and shall run consecutively to any sentence for other crimes committed in conjunction with the carjacking.

During a public hearing on the bill yesterday, Ada said since the beginning of the year, Guam has witnessed several high-profile criminal acts that would meet the definition of carjacking as defined by the bill.

According to the bill, a person is guilty of carjacking if the "person commits a crime of burglary, in a vehicle, while a person, other than a participant to the crime is present, or if he/she surreptitiously lies in wait in the vehicle in anticipation of the driver's return."

The bill also provides a more severe prison sentence for carjackers who possess a deadly weapon while committing the crime and also makes attempted carjacking and fleeing following a carjacking attempt the same as the actual crime.

This bill is patterned after a law which created minimum sentencing guidelines for home invaders.

Deputy Attorney General Phil Tydingco, speaking on behalf of the Office of the Attorney General, said: "We didn't have this phenomena until the last couple of years or so. It looks like it has reached our shores."

"If this is added to the violent crime list, then I think we will be okay with this. The court would carry out the intent of the Legislature, which is to tell everybody that this is a serious crime," Tydingco stressed.

Attorney General's Office supports carjacking bill

Guam - Legislation that would make carjacking a 1st degree felony went up for a public hearing Tuesday. Bill 202 introduced by Senators Tony Ada and Chris Duenas came as a response to the increasing number of car-related thefts and crimes on Guam.

Deputy Attorney General Phil Tydingco say the AG's Office supports the intent and concept of the bill especially as its addresses crimes being committed on Guam. "Normally we associate carjacking with the mainland and the big cities and so forth but sadly as recent as the one down south with the tourist, so again it's sad that it's reached our shores but it looks like its needed," he said.

It was earlier this month when Eric J. Meno was arrested for robbing and assaulting a Japanese tourist. Meno had asked the tourist to give him a ride and then punched the victim and stole his car. Senator Ada says the language in Bill 202 is patterned after the home invasion and burglary laws on Guam.

The bill would charge those who break into occupied vehicles with the intent to commit a crime or those who secretly hide and wait in the vehicle waiting for the driver's return with 1st degree felony.

by Mindy Aguon

Guam - The Legislature will be accepting public comments on two measures on Tuesday evening. The first is Bill 192, also known as The Infant Child's Right to Life Act, that seeks to protect infants who are born alive as a result of an abortion. Lawmakers will also be accepting testimony Bill 202 that would stiffen the penalties for carjacking.

The public hearing begins at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening. That will be followed by a roundtable discussion on veteran affairs issues that will begin at 6.

§37.302. Armed Carjacking. Whoever commits the offense of carjacking while armed with or having readily available any pistol or other firearm or imitation thereof or other dangerous or deadly weapon, including a firearm, dirk, knife, switchblade, razor, blackjack, billy, or metallic or other false knuckles, or any object capable of inflicting death or serious bodily injury, shall be guilty of armed carjacking.

§37.303. In the Course of Committing Carjacking or Armed Carjacking. An act shall be deemed "in the course of committing" the offense if it occurs in an attempt to commit the offense or flight after the attempt or commission.

§37.304. Knowledge of occupancy is not a defense. It is no defense the defendant reasonably believed that the vehicle was unoccupied, by a person who was not a participant in the crime, at the time the Carjacking or Armed Carjacking occurred.

§37.305. Carjacking Punished. (a) Carjacking is a first degree felony and any person found guilty under this section shall be sentenced to a term of imprisonment of which at least ten (10) years may not be suspended or reduced by the court.

(b) The sentence imposed for Carjacking shall run consecutively to any sentence for other crimes committed in conjunction with the Carjacking.

§37.306. Armed Carjacking Punished. (a) Armed Carjacking is a first degree felony and any person found guilty under this section shall be sentenced to a term of imprisonment of which at least fifteen (15) years may not be suspended or reduced by the court.

(b) The sentence imposed for armed carjacking shall run consecutively to any sentence for other crimes committed in conjunction with the Carjacking.
