Relative to supporting Taiwan's entry into the World Health Organization.

BE IT RESOLVED BY I LIHESLATURAN GUÅHAN:

WHEREAS, over Nine decades ago on October 10, 1911, the Republic of China was founded. The United States of America and the Republic of China have been friends and allies for many years. Throughout this time the ties of friendship and the commercial interests of the United States of America and the Republic of China have developed into a stronger partnership; and

WHEREAS, the freedom and democracy enjoyed by the people of the Republic of China (Taiwan) are clearly demonstrated in the progress and growth of the economy of this great country. This year the Republic of China (Taiwan) will observe the 96th Anniversary of the Founding on October 10, 2007. In furthering its commitment to freedom and democracy Taiwan continues to seek representation in international organizations and the people and the government of Guam support their efforts and entry into the United Nations and the World Health Organization. Good health is important to every citizen of the world and access to the highest standards of health information and services is necessary to improve the public health; and

WHEREAS, the preamble of the World Health Organization (WHO) Constitution states that 'the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of health is

1 one of the fundamental rights of every human being without distinction of race,
2 religion, political belief, economic or social condition. Taiwan and its twenty-three 3 million five hundred thousand (23,500,000) people wish to join the World Health 4 Organization (WHO) as a member. Because health and disease have no borders, it is 5 in the best interest of the human condition that Taiwan be afforded membership in the 6 WHO in order to benefit from information regarding the prevention, monitoring and 7 cure of epidemic diseases, prevention of terrorist bio-chemical attacks, and 8 discussions of global health policies; and

9 WHEREAS, Taiwan's achievements in the field of health are substantial,
10 including one of the highest life expectancy levels in Asia; maternal and infant 11 mortality rates comparable to those of western countries; the eradication of such 12 infectious diseases as cholera, smallpox and the plague; and being the first nation to 13 eradicate polio and provide children with Hepatitis B vaccinations; and

14 WHEREAS, direct and unobstructed participation in international health 15 cooperation forums and programs is beneficial for all parts of the world, especially 16 with today's greater potential for the cross-border spread of various infectious diseases
17 such as the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), tuberculosis, and malaria. Taiwan's 18 population of 23,500,000 people is greater than that of three-fourths of the member 19 states already in the World Health Organization (WHO). Taiwan's achievements in the 20 field of health are substantial, including one of the highest life expectancy levels in 21 Asia, maternal and infant mortality rates comparable to those of western countries, the 22 eradication of such infectious diseases as cholera, smallpox, and the plague, and the 23 first to eradicate polio and provide children with hepatitis B vaccinations; and

24 WHEREAS, the United States Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and 25 its Taiwan counterpart agencies have enjoyed close collaboration on a wide range of 26 public health issues. In recent years Taiwan has expressed a willingness to assist

1 financially and technically in international aid and health activities supported by the 2 WHO; and

3 WHEREAS, on January 14, 2001, an earthquake, registering between 7.6 and 4 7.9 on the Richter scale, struck El Salvador. In response, the Taiwanese Government 5 sent 2 rescue teams, consisting of 90 individuals specializing in firefighting, medicine, 6 and civil engineering. The Taiwanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs also donated 7 $200,000 in relief aid to the Salvadoran Government; and

8 WHEREAS, the World Health Assembly has allowed observers to participate 9 in the activities of the organization, including the Palestine Liberation Organization in 10 1974, the Order of Malta, and the Holy See in the early 1950s. The United States, in 11 the 1994 Taiwan Policy Review, declared its intention to support Taiwan's 12 participation in appropriate international organizations. U.S. Public Law 106-137 13 required the Secretary of State to submit a report to the Congress on efforts by the 14 executive branch to support Taiwan's participation in international organizations, in 15 particular the WHO; and be it further

16 RESOLVED, that I Mina'Bente Nuebi na Liheslaturan Guåhan, on behalf of 17 the people of Guam, in light of all benefits that Taiwan's participation in the WHO can 18 bring to the state of health not only in Taiwan, but also regionally and globally, 19 Taiwan and its 23,500,000 people should have appropriate and meaningful 20 participation in the WHO. As noted in his speech made in the World Medical 21 Association on May 14, 2002, Secretary of Health and Human Services Tommy 22 Thompson announced America's work for a healthy world cuts across political lines.
23 According to Secretary Thompson, the U.S. government supports Taiwan's efforts to 24 gain observership status at the World Health Assembly; and be it further

25 RESOLVED, that I Mina'Bente Nuebi na Liheslaturan Guåhan, on behalf of 26 the people of Guam, does hereby express its support for the people of Taiwan, that 27 they deserve the same level of public health as citizens of every nation on earth, and

1 that we support them in their efforts to achieve its objective to become a member of 2 WHO; and be further

3 RESOLVED, that the Speaker certify to and the Secretary of the Legislature
