COMMITTEE ON GENERAL GOVERNMENTAL OPERATIONS
TWENTIETH GUAM LEGISLATURE

REPORT ON BILL NO. 424

AN ACT TO NAME THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING THE GOVERNOR MANUEL F.L. GUERRERO ADMINISTRATION

Introduced by Senator Ted S. Nelson

PREFACE:

The Committee on General Governmental Operations, to which was referred Bill No. 424, "An act to name the Administration Building the Governor Manuel F.L. Guerrero Administration Building," conducted a public hearing on Thursday, April 20, 1989 at 9:40 a.m. in the Legislative Session Hall. [Attachment 2]

Committee members present were Senator Ted S. Nelson, Chairman, and Senators Tommy V.C. Tanaka, and Elizabeth P. Arriola. Other members of the Committee were excused by the Chairman. [Attachment 3]

NOTIFICATION:

Letters [Attachment 4] of notification were sent to the Governor, the Family of Governor Manuel F.L. Guerrero, the Director, Department of Administration, and the President, Commissioners Council.

TESTIMONY:

Although no one from the Administration was present to submit testimony, comments were received from the Bureau of Budget and Management Research [Attachment 5] stating that the financial impact of Bill No. 424 will be attributed to related expenditures such as nameplates and a plaque bearing the name, picture, and brief history and contributions of the late Governor Manuel F.L. Guerrero.

Next the Chairman called on the Family of Governor Guerrero to submit testimony. Mrs. Delfina Leon Guerrero, accompanied by her children, Manuel F.L. Guerrero, Jr., Evelyn L.G. Bonner, and Alfredo D. Leon Guerrero, testified in support of Bill No. 424. Mrs. Guerrero thank the sponsor of the Bill for recognizing the accomplishments of her late husband.

At this time, Manuel Guerrero, Jr., expressed his concern that should the current building be demolished and a new one constructed, will the name change carry on.

He was assured by the Committee Chairman that regardless of what happens to the current building, the name change will ultimately follow once the new building is constructed.

Mr. Alfredo Guerrero, added, that if his father were alive he would support the efforts of the Bill's author and similar legislation aimed at recognizing Guam's statesmen and leaders.

Concluding her remarks, Mrs. Delfina Guerrero thanked the Chairman and members of the Committee for considering such legislation.

Next to testify was Mr. Frank D. Perez a businessman and former Senator. At the outset, Mr. Perez thanked the Committee and praised the intent of Bill No. 424. According to Mr. Perez, its about time that we start recognizing and honoring our great leaders.

As a businessman, and a member of the Eighth Guam Legislature, Mr. Perez, apprised the Committee that Governor Guerrero was a man of rare breed. His programs and policies were intended to be enjoyed and realized not during his administration, but years after. Mr. Perez cited the 10 Year Development Plan prepared and implemented by Governor Guerrero. This program, said Mr. Perez, was designed to open Guam to the Asian markets. It was also intended to make Guam the hub and center of commercial establishments. Governor Guerrero, said Mr. Perez, ventured into making housing programs available to the people of Guam. This he said is evidenced by the developments in Dededo, Sinajana, Yona, Barrigada and Asan.

In closing, Mr. Perez said that above all, not only was Governor Guerrero a friendly and likeable person, but more importantly, he was a true statesman for the people of Guam.

Next the Chairman called on Mr. Frank M. Portusach, Commissioner of Agana Heights. Mr. Portusach testified in support of Bill No. 424 and recounted his younger days with Governor Guerrero and how Governor Guerrero would also look out for the interest of Guam's future. Not only is Governor Guerrero, a friend of mine, but I strongly support the passage of Bill No. 424.

There being no further witnesses, the Chairman related his experience with Governor Guerrero. The positive outlook, and how the governor would always find ways to ensure that Guam residents sent off-island for higher education are brought back and placed in management positions.

At this time, Senator Tommy Tanaka stated that not only does Bill No. 424 change the name of a building, but, what Bill No. 424 does is memorialize one of Guam's distinguished leaders.

Senator Elizabeth P. Arriola echoed the same sentiments and also said that Governor Guerrero left a legacy for the people of Guam, and that young leaders can look to the legacy of the late Governor as a role model.

There being no further discussion, the Chairman adjourned the Committee hearing on Bill No. 422.

SECTION ANALYSIS:

Please refer to "Profile on Bill No. 424."

FINDINGS:

The Committee on General Governmental Operations, to which was referred Bill No. 424, finds, that:

1. Governor Guerrero first joined government service in 1931 when he served as a messenger. By 1941, he rose to the position of comptroller and during the Japanese occupation, worked in the rice fields and at the airfield.
2. Shortly after the recapture of Guam, Governor Guerrero was assigned to Headquarters Command under the G-4 Section. He received security clearance for the handling of military pouches and classified materials, including top secret documents.
3. Governor Guerrero served in various capacities in the Executive Branch prior to his appointment as Secretary of Guam and later as Governor of Guam. Among the positions he held were: Troubleshooter for the Governor's Office; Administrator of Guam Memorial Hospital; Special Assistant at the Commercial Port; Auditor; and as an Investigator and Deputy Director of the Department of Land Management.
4. As advisor to the Governor and later Assistant Secretary of Guam, Governor Guerrero devoted much of his time working on proposed legislation, executive policies, budgeting, governmental reorganization, and the formation of personnel rules and regulations.
5. Governor Guerrero was a well-experienced man. He served as a member of the Eleventh Pre-Organic Act Guam Congress where he served as Chairman of the Finance Committee. He also served as Chairman of the Committee on Rules during his tenure in the First Guam Legislature and as Staff Director in 1961, just prior to his appointment as Secretary of Guam.
6. Governor Guerrero was appointed as Chief Executive in 1963 by President John F. Kennedy, and was reappointed by President Lyndon B. Johnson on 1967.
7. Governor Guerrero was the first Pacific Islander to represent the United States Government in the South Pacific Commission. He was also the first Pacific Islander to serve as Chairman of the South Pacific Conference.

8. During his administration, much of the island's infrastructure was upgraded and many projects were established that provided the foundation of Guam's economy today. These projects include: the creation of the Guam Telephone Authority; the creation of the Guam Power Authority, enabling the government of Guam for the first time to own its own power plants; the Guam Economic Development Authority; the Guam International Air Terminal; the islandwide sewer and water system; and the reorganization of the Government of Guam. Through Governor Guerrero's efforts, Guam was able to obtain a $45 Million loan from the Federal Government for the island's economic rehabilitation shortly after Typhoon Karen in 1962.
9. Knowing the need for more permanent homes and better community standards, Governor Guerrero established the Guam Housing and Urban Renewal Authority and under it urbanized the villages of Sinajana and Yona. He initiated the Kaiser housing development in Dededo.
10. Recognizing the potential for tourism in Guam, Governor Guerrero established the first Guam Tourist Council, and was instrumental in establishing the first international tourist hotel in Guam known as the Guam-Tokyo in Tumon Bay, while pushing for Pan Am to open up a Guam-Tokyo route.
11. Governor Guerrero was instrumental in upgrading the College of Guam to its present status - that of a University and a land grant college.
