Written TestimonyBy Monique Portusach-Cepeda*Bill 276

As a Pro Tech and Merit Scholarship Recipient, I am writing in support of Bill 276. Currently, our island is facing tough economic times and does not have the capacity to hire all of the graduates that are coming back. Consequently, many students that have come back in recent years to fulfill their service credit are frustrated by the lack of opportunities available for professional development. Many feel that their talent, expertise and education are being untapped, underutilized and unappreciated. While the Merit and ProTech are wonderful programs that fund Guam's best and brightest, we are not ensuring that we utilize or maximize the potential that these students offer. I know of students who graduate with honors, receive numerous job offers in the mainland yet, when they come to Guam, they find themselves struggling to get an entry-level position in the government. Given the current state of our island, I think that it is in the Government's best interest to allow students the opportunity to defer and enhance their professional skills elsewhere, until the island is able to offer career opportunities and positions that align with the educational background and professional/technical skills of those graduating. As policy-makers, I would like to challenge the Guam Legislature to develop and diversify the economy, to ensure a merit-based hiring system for government positions and find ways to incorporate Guam's best and brightest in shaping a brighter future.

In addition, I hope that this body reevaluates the rules and regulations of the Pro Tech and Merit service credit. I feel that having students to come back just to work on Guam does not help develop our island in any way. We should encourage students to work on our island's behalf in the nation's capital (afterall, that is where a majority of funding and programs that benefit our island come from). As Congressman Underwood pointed out in "The State of Guam's Agenda in Washington, D.C", there is little coordination in ensuring Guam's inclusion in national initiatives and federal policies. According to Congressman Underwood, "Oftentimes Guam is left out of policy decisions because federal policymakers don't realize we're not included until after the legislation is already enacted into law." As I have learned from policy programs at the Brookings Institute, Kennedy School of Government and Truman Scholarship Program, representation and involvement in the political process ^{are} vital. Thus, we must also be at the table, working side by side and not just 10,000 miles away advocating for our island's social, political and economic prosperity. Currently, the rules and regulations do not reflect service credit for those who serve and defend our country. I think that any student who works for the Federal Government, on Guam's behalf, should be given service credit, even partial service credit (every 2 years would equal 1 year on Guam).

Moreover, I hope this body will also create more opportunities and incentives for Chamorro linguists, professors and historians to pursue higher education in order to preserve and protect our culture, language and our future.

Thank You for the opportunity to share my thoughts. Si Yu'os Ma'ase!

A proud daughter of Guam,

Monique Portusach-Cepeda

Fiscal Note Comments on Bill No. 276 (COR)
April 30, 2002

The intent of the Bill is to extend the beginning of repaying financial assistance an additional two years.

The fiscal impact will be realized upon approval of one's repayment of service credit extension and the impact would be immediate. A recipient's repayment of service credit deferred a maximum of two years would mean the delay in utilizing the individual's services and talents. The financial impact may be realized when one is employed to cover work which could have otherwise been absorbed by the service credit of the graduate. The projected impact, however, is not calculable at this time due to unavailable data such as the number of individuals in this category and the potential service which may be provided.

- 1 activated by I Liheslaturan Guåhan in the General Appropriations Act for any
- 2 fiscal year beginning with Fiscal Year 2003 or other legislation.”
